

Getting Grounded

We need grounding when we feel disconnected from our body. This may show up as being clumsy, or you may feel numb, overwhelmed or full of panic. To get back to presence, observe the space you are in and find things the senses can interact with. Breathe deep belly breaths in-between.

